Local Cloud » SaaS Managed Email Security in the cloud » Incoming Filter » Outgoing Filter » Email Archiving » API » Clusterable » Synchronized » Scalable

Since the inception of email, companies & users from across the world continue to be bombarded with a variety of spam messages, out of which a vast majority are nowadays riddled with ransomware, malware and viruses created with the purpose of extorting money or stealing personal information. Organizations have started to understand the importance of email security and are steadily employing comprehensive solutions to better protect their networks and users.

Quick Read

ProfesionalHosting was founded in 2002 with the mission to offer quality web hosting services and domain registration in Spain. Since then, the company has experienced progressive growth and it has expanded its product offering to serve Internet services, infrastructure and technology as well. With offices in Almeria and Madrid, ProfesionalHosting is one of the leading web hosts in the country.

Challenges

Prior to installing SpamExperts via a Local Cloud deployment, to serve as an email filtering gateway for both incoming & outgoing traffic, ProfesionalHosting was dealing with issues regarding their networks being targeted with spam emails. With security being a huge priority for the company, a task force was assembled to seek the perfect solution to fit their needs.

Implementation

After discussing with SpamExperts in order to assess the correct products to be implemented and agreeing a plan-of-attack, ProfesionalHosting opted for the Local Cloud deployment. This option provides them with more control over their network, as well as keeping email infrastructure management in-house.

Benefits

With SpamExperts taking care of email security, the Spanish company has seen a decrease in spam messages delivered to and from their networks. All of the ProfesionalHosting customers are making use of SpamExperts as their primary software to combat unwanted & highly dangerous messages.

Target Reached

“It has become our go-to email security software,” says David Garcia, CEO, ProfesionalHosting. “We have made SpamExperts available to all of our customers and thus, solved all of our spam-related problems. I can honestly say that SpamExperts is the best solution for spam filtering and I recommend it whenever I have the chance.”
