SPAM EXPERTS PRIVACY STATEMENT

PRIVACY AT SPAMEXPERTS

For SpamExperts, a careful handling of personal data is of great importance. Personal data is always carefully handled and protected. SpamExperts abides by the requirements which are determined by the Personal Data Protection Act. SpamExperts, located in Amsterdam, is responsible for the data processing. Because it falls within the statutory exemption regulation, these are not announced at the Dutch Data Protection Authority. In this privacy statement SpamExperts explains which personal data is collected and used and for which purpose.

Registration and Processing of Data

SpamExperts B.V. collects and uses personal information directly provided by you or of which upon registration it is clear that they are supplied to the company. Data no longer needed shall be removed. You also can ask for changing or deletion of data (see the contact information below).

Registration system

In order to place an order, you first must register yourself. After registration SpamExperts will retain the personal information you provided, such as name, address, city, email address and the details of orders you already have placed. This information is collected so the customer does not have to re-enter these details, and so that SpamExperts can contact you in the context of fulfillment of the license agreement, billing, and payment.

SpamExperts shall not supply the information linked to your user name to third parties, unless this is necessary in the context of the license agreement, which you conclude with SpamExperts or if it is required by law. When you want to use a credit card or similar system to pay, your card information will be passed on to the bank of SpamExperts for authorization of the transaction. In case of suspected fraud or abuse of the SpamExperts site, SpamExperts may hand over your personal information to the competent authorities.

Username and password

The username is linked with a password. You are solely responsible for the careful handling of the password. SpamExperts assumes that a person, who logs on with your user name and password, is authorized to use the username. If you suspect that the password is known to unauthorized persons, you should inform SpamExperts as soon as possible so that actions can be taken.

Security of personal data

SpamExperts makes use of strict safety procedures, among other things, to prevent access to personal data by unauthorized persons. SpamExperts in particular makes use of secure connections (Secure Sockets Layer or SSL) by which all personal information between you and the SpamExperts website is protected during registration, during the settlement, and the payment process.

Clicking behavior and visiting details

On the website, general visiting data will be tracked. In this context, particular the IP address of your computer may be recorded and used for statistical analysis of visit and click behavior on the Website. SpamExperts tries to make this information anonymous as much as possible. This information will not be provided to third parties.

Use of cookies

In the provision of electronic services SpamExperts make use of cookies. A cookie is a small file stored on the hard disk of the computer. SpamExperts uses temporary cookies. These cookies do not contain personal data and shall be used only to make the use of the site easier.

Websites of third parties

This statement does not apply to websites of third parties through links connected with this website. SpamExperts encourages you to read the privacy statement of these sites, before using them.

Amendment privacy statement

SpamExperts reserves the right to amend this statement. It is recommended to consult this statement regularly, so that you will be informed about these amendments.

Inspection and changing your data

Questions about the SpamExperts privacy policies or questions about inspection and changes in (or removal of) your personal data, at any time you can address to: info@spamexperts.com
